Main Page/shopView

- There is a black navbar with white „RefShop” logo on the left, and a red „Cart” button on the right
- I used bootstrap cards for the items with bootstrap container for the grid and responsiveness
- The items have been hardcoded inside the HTML – I tried to inject it using javascript but was not successful with that.
- Each card has a picture of the item, name, price and an „Add to Cart” button.

Cart button/cart view

- If there are no items in the cart, when clicking the cart button on the navbar, it should display an alert saying your cart is empty.
- There is a little counter on how many items are in the cart.
- If there are item(s) in the cart, clicking it should display the „cartView”, with the items listed and prices calculated and displayed.
- On the bottom there is a „Checkout” button which takes you to a form.
- Continue shopping button should revert you to the „shopView”, not resetting the cart.

Shipping details/form

- When clicking „Checkout” on the last page, the shipping details form should appear.
- The form is created using bootstrap forms, styled both using bootstrap classes and css.
- The form is validated through javascript taking into account:
 - The presence of data (not empty)
 - Correct data type
 - Correct length
- If the form is valid, clicking the „Complete order” button takes you to an order confirmation.
